What if a leader viewed as successful, by today's pop-culture definition, is doing more harm for the world than good?

Key Concepts:

- The Virtues of a Good Leader
- The Consequences of a Good Leader
- How a Good Leader Cares for the Greater Good
- What it takes to be a Good Leader for Oneself and Others

The Virtues of a Good Leader

A leader is best when he is neither seen nor heard. Not so good when he is adored and glorified. Worst when he is hated and despised. Of a Great Leader, when his work is done, his aim fulfilled, the people will all say, “We did this ourselves.”

-Lao Tzu

Good Leaders live to raise the quality of life for everyone they come in contact with.

A GOOD leader creates a life they never need a vacation from.

Success is the ability to go from one failure to another with no loss of enthusiasm.

- Winston Churchill

What it Takes to Be a Good Leader for Oneself and Others

You must love people not for what they are, but for what they ought to be.

- Goethe

What 3 things can you see from where you are sitting that might bear upon your learning: good or bad?

- What if you have to give up who you are to become who you ought to BE?
- Who could you BE if you approached the work-out session, and beyond, with an insatiable curiosity?
- Who could you BE if you practiced the attributes of a good leader in the next session...and beyond?

As you THINK, so will you BE and as you BE, so will you Do.

It's time to formulate the questions you need to pursue in your Workout Session...
